PREFACE

Throughout the history of man he has attempted to leave to posterity his records and achievements and this is being done today for his benefit. For the preservation of the history of the descendants of Michael Wine, committees have been appointed to accomplish this purpose and they have served well. The co-author, with a full time job as well as other duties to perform, was unable to devote much time to this phase of the work and leaned heavily on The Wine Family in America by Jacob David Wine. Some of its contents are as follows:

"At the Annual Meeting of the German Baptist Brethren Church at Bristol, Tenn., in 1905, a Wine reunion was held with Elder David D. Wine of Covington, Ohio, presiding. . . . After some discussion on the importance of preserving the family history, a committee of three was appointed to trace the descendants of Michael Wine and publish the findings. This committee which was composed of Elder David G. Wine of Enders, Nebr., a grandson of Michael, No. 12; Elijah T. Wine, Jonesboro, Tenn., a grandson of Christian, No. 13; and Elder Daniel P. Wine, Forestville, Va., a grandson of John 5, . . ." made a beginning but did not complete the family history.*

"J. D. Wine, author of The Wine Family in America became associated in the work with his father, Elder Daniel P. Wine, in 1906, and at his death in 1923, took charge of the records that had been gathered. In 1926 Elder Alonzo F. Wine of the Daniel 6 branch became very much interested in the family history." However, he did not foresee the vast amount of time required for such an undertaking and before this work was completed he was called to his eternal home.

"At his death in 1934, his daughter, Dr. Celesta Wine, then a student at the University of Chicago, took up where he left off. She had planned to have her material on the eleven branches of Michael Wine 3 family ready for publication in 1949, the 200th anniversary of our ancestor's coming to America," but the work was not completed due to conditions over which she had no control.

"At the death of Elijah T. Wine his son Bruce, now also deceased, and his cousin, Eld. John M. Wine, Santa Ana, Calif., took up the task where Bruce's father left off." Eld. John M. has continued the research on the Michael Wine 3 family but more emphasis has been on his grandfather's branch.

In 1937, when the Christian Wine 13 reunion was held at the Wine homestead near Jonesboro, Washington County, celebrating the centennial of the Wine family living in Tennessee, a committee was appointed to trace the descendants of Christian 13, and have the findings published. The committee was composed of Bruce Wine No. 111, Jonesboro, Tenn.; James R. Wine No. 102, Empire, Calif.; and Eld. John M. Wine No. 50, Santa Ana, Calif. The first named member was to work in the eastern part of the country and the latter to work the central and western states. The first two members named have been deceased several years and their data was turned over to John M. Wine who has worked alone these intervening years, never giving up when the many difficulties and discouragements were encountered.

In 1954, while the co-author of this book was visiting his uncle, John M. Wine in California, he began to realize the importance of this research and the arduous task for one person who had already spent the most productive years of his life. Uncle John is a man who is loved by all. To show him my appreciation for what he had already done and to help him finish the research, making possible the publication of this work during his natural life, it was at this time assistance was offered in any way possible; unaware of the time required and the work that lay ahead.

After going over the papers, it was found that some of the material had been gathered many years before and was not up to date. Many dates were missing and much time was used in an effort to complete the genealogy. In addition to the name, date of birth and death, name of the person married and place, an effort has been made to give the occupation, name of the parents of those that married into the family, military service, church affiliation, and the latest address. In many instances, some of this information was not obtained.

When the time came to have the data organized and typed, the co-author looked for someone to do the work. Without any success in a few attempts, he turned to Mr. F. B. Kegley, a noted historian of Southwest Virginia to organize the material. The answer was a complimentary one, "You can do it yourself." Mr. Kegley is now writing the history of Southwest Virginia.

The German Baptist Brethren

"This church, up to 1905, when the general conference convened at Bristol and the first Wine reunion was held, was mainly rural. As the migration from farm to city increased it became necessary to follow up the members with city missions. In cities the name 'German Baptist Brethren' was misleading; by many it was taken to mean the Missionary Baptist Church, holding its services in the German language, the use of which had been discontinued by the 'German Baptist Brethren' many years earlier. To avoid this confusion the name was changed between 1905 and 1908 to 'The Church of the Brethren.' . . .

The Old Knob Creek Meetinghouse will afford our readers an excellent opportunity to study the country style of architecture common in the beginning of the last century. Organized in 1799 and built in 1834, it was the first Brethren church in Tennessee.

"Michael Wine 3, his wife, his parents, his children and grandchildren were members of this church. Today it is estimated that fully 80 per cent of his descendants still belong to it. Some have married members of other churches, and some of these have followed their companions into other churches. Others have located in cities where there is no Church of the Brethren congregation and consequently have united with other denominations to have a church home."

Name and Number

"For the convenience of readers and for easy identification, each lineal descendant, except those dying before reaching maturity, is given a number. The numbers first appear in listing the children of a family—after each child's name is its proper number, and the same number and name go together thereafter." For example, let us begin with Christian Wine 13 (No. 13) and his wife, Barbara Beahm. Their first child Benjamin is listed as follows:

"1. Benjamin Wine 15, b. Oct. 8, 1821."

The figure before Benjamin's name means that he is the first or oldest child of his parents; the "15" after his name is his number and is found with his name wherever it later appears. Turning to No. 15 in the 4th generation we have:

"15 Benjamin Wine (son of Christian Wine No. 13), b. Oct. 8, 1821; d. Dec. 20, 1895; m. March 11, 1845, Catherine Krouse," etc.

Children

"1. Susan Wine 26, b. Jan. 1, 1846."

Thus, in the 4th generation Benjamin Wine appears as husband and father, his name preceded by his number, "15," and followed by his father's name and number in parentheses. If the reader wishes to know who Benjamin's ancestors were, he will turn back to No. 13 (Christian), and there learn that Christian 13 was a son of Michael Wine 3. Reference to No. 3 will show that Michael 3 was a son of John George Wine No. 1. If one wishes to find the descendants of Benjamin 15 through his daughter Susan 26, he will turn forward to No. 26 where the names of her children are given, each with a number. By turning to these numbers in the next generation, the children of Susan's children may be found; and so on from generation to generation. The numbering in sections one and two of this Michael Wine family is the same through the first and second generations.

INTRODUCTION

"In this book about Michael Wine and his descendants, we begin close to the farm and home and country church. As the paths diverge they lead to the cities and noisy industries, with the multiplying distractions of artificiality, but we cannot altogether forget the simple arts and sturdy virtues that gave skill and character to a young nation in the wilderness. And along with skill and strength, we discern in this family the solicitude of charity. I doubt whether another large family group can be found that has given a greater proportion of its men to the Christian ministry or more of its women to the service of nursing—caring for the sick and injured. In the kinship circle also are and have been a number of physicians. Ministering to the souls and bodies of men, these three groups have a significance: they speak of humanity and philanthropy as characteristic qualities."

In 1837, Christian Wine, with his wife Barbara and eight children, moved to Tennessee, where he found fertile soil, relatives, and church fellowship. In this new environment, without any schools and wishing for his children and those of the surrounding community the advantages of an education, he soon built a house on his farm for that purpose. In those days, when each family was more dependent on other families than at the present time, Christian Wine was always willing to co-operate and render service to those in need. In addition to helping a family without provisions one spring, the horse was allowed to graze each night and noon on the spacious lawn of the Wine homestead until a new crop could be grown. It was in this center of influence that his children grew up and from which they, after marriage, migrated to other counties and states taking with them their "characteristic qualities." For many years, it has been the aim of the author of this book to preserve the record of the descendants of Christian Wine 13.

"And now he and those of his kindred who have joined with him in collecting, compiling, and publishing this record of the Wines and related families deserve the gratitude of thousands of people in many parts of the United States and other countries."

CHAPTER I

Historical Background

Dr. Celesta Wine, who did her first four years of teaching in the English Department of Marion College, Marion, Virginia, and now holds the Chair of English in Winthrop College, Rock Hill, S. C., was invited to write this part of the book of the early history of the Wine family. She has done extensive research work on Michael Wine (1747–1822) and his father, John George Wine, immigrant to America in 1749; but due to a very large assignment, which must be fulfilled along with her regular teaching duties, she was unable to undertake another task.

For those who do not have access to the first section of The Wine Family in America by J. D. Wine, some of the facts presented under "Background Glimpses," will be given here.

"Dr. Martin Brumbaugh, a former governor of Pennsylvania, author, historian, and an active minister of the Church of the Brethren, sent to Eld. Daniel P. Wine the following, as copied from the records of the Pennsylvania Historical Society:

"On the ship 'Elliot,' from Rotterdam, landing at Philadelphia Aug. 24, 1749, came Johann George Wien.". . .

A photostat of the signature of the immigrant:

Johann gorg Wien

His name often appeared later simply as George Wein.

"Eld. D. L. Miller, author, world traveler, minister (Ch. B.), lecturer, and co-author with Eld. Galen B. Royer of 'Some Who Led,' in his write-up of Eld. Jacob Wine of Forestville, Va., says: 'To him we are indebted for the early history of the first settlers among the Brethren in Virginia and especially near Flat Rock. In 1876 he was fortunate enough to get a verbal history of the 'Flat Rock.' "

Below are quoted the first two paragraphs of Elder Miller's account of Eld. Jacob Wine:

"The subject of this sketch came from German ancestry. George Wine (Wein), his wife and two little sons landed in Philadelphia Aug. 24, 1749. He settled in York County, Pa., and in 1770 it is known they were members of the Little Conewago congregation."

"Michael, the younger son, who was but three years old when he landed in America, . . . married Susannah Miller of Frederick, Md., about 1773 and moved to Shenandoah County, Va., near Forestville, in 1785." As the court records of the said county show that he purchased his homestead near Forestville in 1782, Eld. Jacob Wine must have been in error.

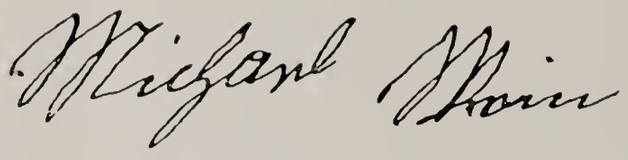
Reference to a conversation between J. D. Wine, author, and Mr. Klaus G. Wust, a German student, concerning the spelling of the family name, Mr. Wust said that the German immigrants were told by an English officer how to spell their name, and the spelling is not always correct. He also said that the Wines living along the Rhine today spell their name "Wein"; that the name "Wein" was not of Jewish origin but "Wien" was.

"In the Bible of Michael Wine 3 his birth date is given as May 27, 1747. Accordingly, he would have been only three months past two years old when he landed in America. In a deed he made to Joseph Moore in 1805 (then at age 58) his name is written in German 'Michael Wein.' A photostat of it appears below."



Michael Wein

"In 1766 Michael Wine 3 went to Frederick County, Md. On Nov. 19, 1766, he bought the Spring Plain land on Israel Creek, one and a fourth miles east of Boonsboro. In this deed his occupation is given as wagon-maker. About seven years later he married Susannah Miller, and here (in Frederick County, Md.) his four older sons, and his oldest daughter were born. . . .

"According to Eld. John M. Wine (Shenandoah County), whose lot it was to stay with his grandmother in her declining years, while the rest of the family went to church, and who thus heard many family traditions from her, the reason that Michael Wine 3, Elders Samuel and Martin Garber and Jacob Miller and their families left Maryland in 1782 and settled in Shenandoah County, Va., was because their property had been confiscated by the authorities, this having been done because they had remained true to the non-resistant principles of their church (Ch. B.), then known as the Tunkers.

"On April 3, 1782, Michael Wine 3 purchased of John Nicewanger 228 acres of land, a portion of a 428-acre tract granted to Thomas Holman in 1750 by the 'Right Honorable Thomas Lord Fairfax, Baron of Cameron in that part of Great Britain called Scotland, Proprietor of the Northern Neck of Virginia.'" In 1803 he purchased the remaining 200 acres of the Thomas Holman grant. On June 11, 1821, he made his will which was probated in Woodstock, Va., on Feb. 10, 1823.

"A family tree is frequently found in books on genealogy." Instead of preparing a tree, J. D. Wine used in his book a tabular form and this method is used in this book. Below are the children and grandchildren of Michael Wine 3, with the names of husbands and wives, when known.

"Johann George Wine is considered the first generation of Wines in America. Therefore he will be counted No. 1." Before proceeding to the genealogy of Christian Wine 13 and his descendants, we present a brief summary of facts relating to Johann George 1 and his older son, Adam Wine 2, and the genealogy of Michael 3.

1 Johann George Wine (1st generation), with his wife, Margaretta, and two young sons, emigrated from the River Rhine, Germany, landing at Germantown or Philadelphia, Pa., August 24, 1749. He settled in York County, Pa., with the two children that were born in Germany; and there is a strong probability that others were born in America. The two born in Germany were Adam Wine No. 2, born about 1744, and Michael Wine No. 3, born May 27, 1747.

2 Adam Wine (2nd generation), born about 1744, married Elizabeth Glick, daughter of John Glick, Sr., of near Hudson's Cross Roads, five miles northwest of Mt. Jackson, Shenandoah County, Va. Her brother, Eld. John Glick, Jr., was the father of Elizabeth Glick Neff

(1781–1834) who had two sons and a daughter that married into the John Wine 5 family. Her sister Catherine Glick became the wife of Michael Wine 12.

Tradition says that Adam Wine 2 owned a fishery in Baltimore; that later his descendants settled in Virginia, east of the Blue Ridge; and that later still some of them crossed over into Augusta County, Va. An Adam Wine bought land in Augusta County in 1795 and later.

We here leave the family of Adam Wine 2 and devote our attention to his younger brother Michael Wine 3, Christian Wine 13 and his descendants.

Michael Wine (1747–1822)
And the First Generations of His Descendants

3 Michael Wine (2nd generation), b. May 27, 1747, on the River Rhine in Germany; came to America with his parents in 1749. In 1766 he purchased a farm near Boonsboro, Md., where he married Susannah Miller, b. Nov. 24, 1754, d. March 8, 1848. His older five children were born in Boonsboro, where he is mentioned in his deed as a wagonmaker. On April 3, 1782, he purchased a farm near Forestville, Shenandoah Co., Va., where the seven younger chidren were born. He died on a visit to his oldest daughter, Elizabeth Arnold, near Burlington, now in Mineral County, W. Va., in 1822, and was buried in the Beaver Run Cemetery.

"The Michael Wine family has a record that all can be proud of. In it are to be found outstanding farmers, educators, ministers of the Gospel, business and professional men and women. In the earlier days the women of the family often were not given proper credit for their share of the accomplishments. Nevertheless, without their loyal co-operation the husbands and fathers could not have attained the success they did. The strong moral and religious background in the Church of the Brethren communities in which they lived provided strong incentives to fear God and do right.". . .

Among Michael Wine's descendants belonging in the first section (The Wine Family in America) of our compilation we know of more than 130 ministers of the Gospel, and in addition many other devoted church workers. More than 110 of these ministers have belonged to the Church of the Brethren."

This second section will now be limited to the descendants of Christian Wine 13 of the 3rd generation, son of Michael No. 3 of the 2nd generation. As the author's father, John Wine 19, married into the Miller family, he has chosen to insert in this section in tabular form the children of Michael Miller with the names of the husbands and wives.

After Christian Wine married he settled on a farm near his birthplace, where he lived for seventeen years. He, along with others, became interested in migrating west, and had visited Ohio in what is now the Dayton area. His wife, Barbara, was more interested in going to Tennessee where she had four sisters, one who had married John A. Sherfey (Wooden John), another John Sherfey (Iron John) and the other two had married Bowmans. The most important factor in making their decision could have been the family ties.

A prairie schooner, made at Moore's Store, Virginia, was used to move the personal property from Shenandoah County, Virginia, to Washington County, Tenn., in August 1837. The wagon was drawn by six horses and was built with extra high wheels to facilitate the fording of streams. This trip of more than 300 miles, requiring two weeks' time, was completed on August 15th. The only mishap on the trip was one turnover and the only damage the breaking of a crock of apple butter. The old wagon used for this trip is now owned by George Wine 109, a great grandson of Christian, and is in the museum at the East Tennessee State College, Johnson City, Tenn. The family of eight children made the trip in what was called a cariole.

Not long after his marriage he united with the Church of the Brethren. He remained a faithful member for about 68 years, until his death. For many years he filled the office of deacon in the Pleasant Valley Congregation near Jonesboro, Tenn. The entire family were members of the same church.

In his day, wheat was cut with a cradle scythe and he was able to use one of these hand machines at the age of ninety. When selling grain he would say to his sons in German, "Boys heap the half measure full." He was a man who loved a quiet and retiring life, having spent the best of his life before the rush and bustle of the latter part of the nineteenth century had set in, and although he had, for many years, lost interest in passing events he had many friends and was greatly missed at the time of his death.

Susie, as she was called, was a very devout Christian and this Christian spirit was exemplified in her everyday life. She was usually present in any community sickness. A good example of her kindness is seen when Samuel Wine, her nephew became very sick away from home. She came for him as soon as he was able to be moved, took him to her home and nursed him until he had fully recovered. She was, truly, a good Samaritan.

John Wine, at the age of 16 years, became an apprentice under a Mr. Hale to learn carpentry. At the end of a two-year apprenticeship his father gave him a set of tools, and put him to work building a kitchen and dining room to the family home. He was assisted by his brothers Benjamin, Joseph, Michael, and Jacob. They worked together several years building houses and flour mills in Washington and Sullivan counties. The home they built for their brother Isaac is now (1958) 104 years old. When John's sons Michael, Joseph, Samuel, and Isaac became old enough they worked with their father in his building operations.

In 1861 he planned to build a new house for his family, but the war came and caused a delay of 20 years. In 1881, with the help of his sons, this home was built near Indian Springs, where he had settled after his marriage. Clay, removed from the excavation, was used to make bricks for the cellar walls and chimneys. The lumber used was produced on his woodland. The larger framing timbers were hewn from straight trees. Some of these hewn pieces, as much as 32 feet long, were cut lengthwise into smaller pieces with a handsaw. This sawing was mostly done by his 19-year-old-son, Samuel. His son Joseph, who was 21 years of age, had remained at home to help with the building. A younger son, Isaac, besides being a utility worker, looked after the farm chores.

John and his wife, Ann Cathrin, were members of the Pleasant Hill Church. He was a deacon for many years. His ability as a peacemaker was recognized by the church. On many occasions he was called upon to help church members of the local congregation settle their differences, and at other times was sent to congregations in North Carolina and the extreme Southwest Virginia to "pour oil on troubled waters."

Michael Wine moved from Virginia to Tennessee, in August 1837; from Kingsport, Tenn. to Illinois March 4, 1887; from Illinois to Fort Myers, Fla. about 1910.

It was while he lived in Kingsport, Tenn. that a farmer by the name of Sevier hired Michael to cut wheat with a cradle scythe at one dollar per day, which was the current wage at that time. As a general rule, one worker can bind or tie in bundles as fast as another can cradle. Mr. Sevier came to the field with drinking water for the men and had planned to shock the wheat. However, he found it necessary to help bind to keep up with the cradler. At sundown he had cut eight acres of wheat. Mr. Sevier paid him $2.00 for the day's work because this was twice the labor for the average man.

He was an honest law-abiding Christian and a skilled carpenter. Mrs. Wine was devoted to her home and family. They were laid to rest in Fort Myers. Members of Church of the Brethren.

When and why the Michael C. Wine family moved from Tennessee to Illinois is told in a letter written by Eva D. Griffith, March, 1957:

In 1882 and 1883 Joe Wine was teaching school. He wanted to get more college training, so in the fall of 1883 he went to Mount Morris College, Mount Morris, Ill. There he met John E. Miller of Milledgeville and S. J. Harrison of Lanark, Illinois, and worked on the Harrison farm during the summer. The fall of 1884 he was hired to teach the Dutchtown School. He wrote home telling of the chances for work in that neighborhood, so his brother, Lem Wine, went up there. Lem returned to Tennessee at Christmastime in 1885. When he went north again in early 1886, his brothers, Dave and Edward, went with him. A year later, in 1887, Joe rented a house near the Walker School and made plans for the rest of the family to move north. We landed in Milledgeville on March 4, 1887 and we five younger children enrolled in the Walker School. About a year later we moved into the house on the corner, east of the Dutchtown School. In 1890 they bought the place by Otter Creek and that was the home place until about 1909 or 1910.

The move north was made on account of better employment and better schools. At that time the schools in Tennessee were not as good as they are today.

22 Samuel Wine (son of Christian Wine No. 13), b. Aug. 4, 1835, Shenandoah County, Virginia; d. March 8, 1929, Washington County, Tennessee, laid to rest in the family cemetery on the Wine farm; unmarried.

After coming to Tennessee, at the age of two years, he lived for the remainder of his life at the Christian Wine homestead. He and his brother Isaac became co-owners of this homestead by the provisions of Christian Wine's will, dated May 11, 1868, and a copy of said will is printed in this book. This property was one of the better farms in the county. It is said that Samuel Wine was the first farmer in Washington County to own a wheat binder. Wheat was a money crop in this area then. And as late as the 80's the power of eight horses were utilized to operate threshing machines.

In his earlier years he was a member and deacon of the Pleasant Valley Congregation (Ch. B.), near Jonesboro, Tenn. Several members of this congregation lived in the Wine neighborhood which was nine miles from the church. Due to this distance, these members, in 1915, organized a new congregation called Liberty. Samuel Wine became one of its first deacons. It was largely through his influence that this movement was started. In addition to substantial sums of money he furnished timber from his farm to make boards for the roof, joists, and weatherboards. The finest poplar timber was used in the siding. He always saved his copies of the Gospel Messenger for the church members to read. His influence for good was keenly felt in the community and particularly in church circles.

In addition to giving of his time there were liberal contributions of money to the building of other churches.

Samuel Wine asked his sister Elizabeth to return home and live with him. However, she felt it her Christian duty to stay on and take care of the two step-children. This was a great burden on Aunt Betty for she fell heir to all responsibilities and they became greater with the passing of time.

Member, Church of the Brethren; postmaster, Bashors Mill until it was discontinued; died while visiting her brother Samuel; laid to rest in the Wine Cemetery on the Wine homestead.

Eld. John M. Wine has been very successful in business, a man whose sound judgment has been sought by his friends, a minister and elder (Ch. B.), having affiliated with the Santa Ana Congregation in 1907, and is at the present time (1960) the oldest active member. He has been very much interested in the work of the church; he likes people and is always helping those in need and leading them to a better way and a fuller life of service.

In February 1894, he left his home in Tennessee for Northern Illinois, where he worked on a farm for six years. As the winters there were very severe he went to Southern California in December 1899, and after some months, located in Orange County where he found the climate most favorable. For several years he was a contractor, manufacturing the parts for and installing irrigation systems. When he retired from this business his orange groves were coming into production. These groves have kept him occupied since his retirement. In his late years he has devoted much time to the Michael Wine history and, more particularly, to the Christian Wine family. He is the author of this book. Mrs. Wine was a teacher before her marriage. She became a member of the Santa Ana Congregation in 1909. They have traveled extensively in the United States and after they celebrated their Golden Wedding anniversary, in 1959, they spent five weeks visiting the Islands of Hawaii. 16332 So. Baptist; Sunday School teacher; church clerk many years; school teacher; Tarkio librarian for more than 20 years.

The following article was taken from the local Tarkio paper:

The older we grow, the less we can understand the trends of the ways of the world. We know more and more surely that there has to be a life after this for this one is so full of inconsistencies, lack of appreciation and false standards.

This week Tarkio buried one of its finest citizens.

From a little house on a back street, a tiny little woman went home to be rewarded for faithfulness to her job and to her church. From the time that the first violet bloomed in the spring until the last chrysanthemum faded in the fall, Eloise Wine carried bouquets of flowers each Sunday morning to her church—the Baptist.

When we were first on the City Council and Library Board many years ago, Miss Wine was as faithful to her job as librarian at a salary of $25 per month as though she were president of a great corporation. When in a great burst of generosity (sarcasm) her salary was raised to $35 per month, she was overjoyed. It was a pity that when the county took over the library system and raised her salary to $100 per month that her health allowed her to enjoy that salary for such a short time.

There are many who will have longer obituaries, who can list membership in many clubs, who are numbered in more guest lists, but the faithfulness of Eloise Wine in her humble duties will always retain a place for her among those who have made Tarkio a better place in which to live.
